TEVA COMMENTS ON BIOVAIL ARBITRATION CLAIM

Jerusalem, Israel, March 2, 2004 – Teva Pharmaceutical Industries Ltd. (Nasdaq: TEVA) announced today that its subsidiary has received notification from Biovail Laboratories Incorporated, a subsidiary of Biovail Corporation International, that it has initiated an arbitration proceeding in connection with a dispute regarding payments made to Biovail under the companies' 1997 agreement. Biovail claims damages for alleged under-reporting of net sales under the 1997 agreement and also seeks to terminate the agreement with Teva's subsidiary as a result of what it characterizes as a material contractual breach in the agreement between the two companies. The arbitration demand also includes a RICO claim.

Teva categorically denies the allegations and looks forward to resolving the dispute in arbitration.

Teva's Chief Executive Officer, Mr. Israel Makov commented: "We believe that Biovail's claims are based on inaccurate assertions and incorrect conclusions and reflect a basic misinterpretation of the contract and our conduct under it. We look forward to resolving what we regard, at best, as a disagreement in the normal course of our business relationship, one that has yielded a great deal of success for both companies during the last several years. Therefore, we totally disagree with Biovail's aggressive litigation position."

During the arbitration, according to the contract, the contract will continue to remain in full force and effect and Teva will continue to order products from Biovail for supply to customers. Any notice of termination for a material breach cannot be served until after the arbitration panel has ruled and the cure period has lapsed.

In December 1997, Teva's subsidiary and Biovail Laboratories Incorporated entered into a marketing and distribution agreement which provided Teva with exclusive U.S. marketing rights for Biovail's pipeline of eight controlled-release generic versions of successful brands. These products include generic versions of Cardizem®CD, Adalat®CC, Procardia XL®, and Voltaren®XR.

Teva Pharmaceutical Industries Ltd., headquartered in Israel, is among the top 30 pharmaceutical companies and among the largest generic pharmaceutical companies in the world. The company develops, manufactures and markets generic and innovative human pharmaceuticals and active pharmaceutical ingredients. Close to 90% of Teva's sales are in North America and Europe.
